Senator Colridge in the town of Belmont

I'm here today to go door to door to the local residents giving the people the opportunity to speak their mind - are you recording this?

Yeah? Okay, good!

- To speak their mind directly to congress.

Sir? Are we going to let this run or do you want me to-

Keep rolling!

We can edit the footage later, I just want to make sure we don't miss something really genuine I can use!

Sorry, sir- uh, sir this camera is pretty old fashioned... I'm not sure how-

The camera is old-timey! And call me Senator!

How are people supposed to know it's me if you keep mumbling stuff nobody understands?

Yes, Senator Colridge.

A man in a blue suit is running away from a floating superheroine. The superheroine is wearing a white and red suit with a cape and is holding two glowing pink energy spheres. She is floating in front of a two-story house with yellow siding and a porch. The man is running on the steps of the porch. There are palm trees and a wooden fence in the background.

*Fuck you, lady!

A woman with short blonde hair, wearing a blue suit, is crawling on a grassy area. She has a smug expression and is looking towards the viewer. A close-up photograph of a woman's mouth, showing her teeth and red lipstick. The image is framed by a dark border. Two speech bubbles are overlaid on the image. The first speech bubble is on the left, containing the text "Why not?". The second speech bubble is on the right, containing the text "Yeah, why not?".

Why not?

A woman with long, straight, light-colored hair and glowing purple eyes stands on a porch. She is wearing a white lace-trimmed crop top and a white skirt with a blue floral pattern.
